Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 4, line 5 the phrase "said element" is vague, confusing, and indefinite because it is not clear which previously recited element applicant is referring to.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Olson (5678833).

Olson shows a sports shoe comprising a heel unit (30), a toe unit (34), a soft inner boot (110), a covering element 70, 72, and 74), and interconnecting means (117 and 118) as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3728

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson '833.

Olson shows a shoe substantially as claimed except for the exact fastening means for the covering element. The use of laces as an alternative for buckles and straps is extremely conventional and well known in the art of footwear. It would have been obvious to use laces in place of the buckle and strap fastening means in the shoe of Olson to reduce cost and to increase adjustability of the shoe.

6. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson in view of Hoshizaki (5397141).

Olson shows a shoe substantially as claimed except for interlocking cleats and openings in the heel of the heel unit and inner boot. Hoshizaki teaches providing interlocking cleats (9) on an inner boot element (3) for receipt into openings (8) in a heel unit (6 and 7). It would have been obvious to provide cleats and openings in the heel elements as taught by Hoshizaki in the shoe of Olson to provide a secure and removable attachment between the shoe elements.
